ATV and UPT on receipts; LY receipts for 2025 come from the legacy POS and are partially estimated (units/1.35) for some stores. Return % = returned units / sold units in the month.

4. Traffic & conversion

EMEA visitors +11.0% vs LY, conversion 9.5% vs 12.1% LY. The gap is concentrated in shop-in-shops (Galeries Lafayette, Harrods, Rinascente) where department-store traffic counts all passers-by of the corner and in the flagships during fashion weeks (many visits from industry and press, low intent). Venezia and Saint-Honoré convert well with tourists.

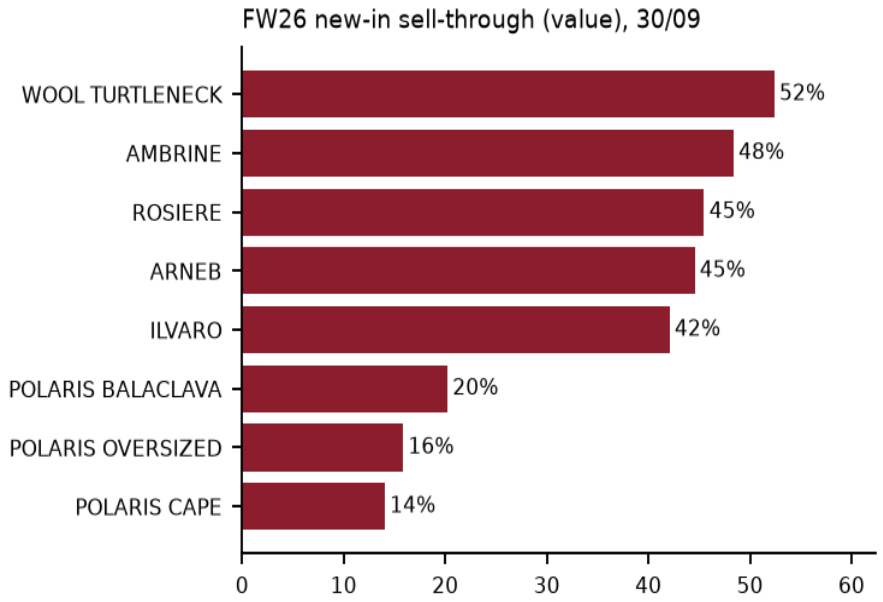

ROM01: visitors -30.1% in the month, -51% since 14/09. Hoarding covers both windows; temporary signage requested to the Comune (pending).

5. FW26 new-in

Style	Sales EUR k	EOP stock EUR k	ST % (value)	Units sold
WOOL TURTLENECK	236	214	52%	368
AMBRINE	374	399	48%	164
ROSIERE	344	413	45%	208
ARNEB	406	505	45%	203
ILVARO	385	530	42%	242
POLARIS BALACLAVA	14	57	20%	32
POLARIS OVERSIZED	55	295	16%	23
POLARIS CAPE	64	393	14%	22

Sell-through on value = net sales at retail since launch / (net sales + end-of-period stock valued at full retail price), EMEA stores only, cut-off 30/09/2026. Not comparable with the Merchandising unit sell-through (units sold / units received).

AMBRINE chocolate brown is the stand-out of the drop in Milano, Paris, London and Madrid: sizes 0-2 broken by the last week of September and DC cannot replenish brown before November. Black AMBRINE sells at a normal pace. ILVARO (cropped) good in all colours; ARNEB parka sells but generates size exchanges (fits large, staff now advise one size down). POLARIS (Genius) is slow in EMEA: clients find the fit small and the price high, consistent with the feedback from the Paris and Milan teams.

6. Category mix

Category	Sep 26 EUR k	Mix %	Sep 25 EUR k	Mix % LY	Δ%
Outerwear	8,523	67.9%	8,248	68.3%	+3.3%

Footwear	645	5.1%	647	5.4%	-0.3%
Bottoms	74	0.6%	76	0.6%	-1.9%

Outerwear weight in line with seasonality; knitwear supported by the logo cardigan and the new wool turtleneck. Footwear soft (Trailgrip sizes 42-43 broken in several stores). Accessories flat - beanies will start with the cold.

7. Clientele & tourism

Nationality (POS)	Share Aug 26	Share Sep 26	Δ pp

Share of EMEA net sales (sales lines only) by customer nationality as captured at POS. Nationality is mandatory only for tax-free sales; domestic clients often recorded by default.

8. Regional Director's commentary

Federico Arrighi - EMEA Retail Director

A good month, better in the second half. The fashion weeks did what we expected in Montenapoleone and in Saint-Honoré, and Venezia keeps surprising us with the long-haul tourists. We are still below budget, mostly because of Roma and of the German/Swiss business that only woke up with the first cold days (which arrived in October, not September).

Roma: the Comune opened the cantiere on Via Condotti on 14 September and the building put scaffolding on top of it. From the street you cannot see our windows. Footfall is roughly half of normal and the team is doing appointments and clienteling by WhatsApp to compensate. Works should end at the beginning of November. I asked Legal to verify a rent abatement and Visual to produce a branded hoarding.

Korean clients: since Chuseok we have a constant flow of Korean tourists in Paris, Milano and at Harrods asking for the black MAIRE (seen on a Korean actress). Korean clients are now more than 10% of the sales in Saint-Honoré. The problem is the lack of stock: black is finished in the three cities and the DC has nothing until mid-October; beige and navy do not replace it, the clients want only black. I consider this the biggest lost opportunity of the month. Please prioritise PAR01, PAR02, MIL01 and LON02 when the 420 units arrive.

AMBRINE brown: same story at smaller scale. We bought brown too thin. I would move brown sizes 0-2 from Munich, Berlin and Copenhagen (where they ask black) to Milano and Paris.

TIB: in the last days of September we started receiving vests back with the zipper slider breaking. Quality is on it; stores have been told to check the slider at the till and to offer exchange. If confirmed on the whole July batch we need a decision on stop-sale before the cold season.

POLARIS: honestly a disappointment in Europe. Clients try it, it is small and they find the price too high for a capsule. I would not re-order for EMEA.

Outlook October: Golden Week started very well with Chinese clients in Milano and Paris, and the forecast announces a cold spell in Central Europe. I expect to recover part of the gap to budget in Q4.
